DOVER.

Pass Through These Doors to Dover Hi . . .

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like school . . . school with its long library assignments, study hall whispering and morning flag exercises. DHS is ours and we are proud to be a part of it.

RIGHT PAGE, BOTTOM: Deb Eck, Alain Eboli, Peggy Ehrhart, and Spurgeon Ehrhart begin their daily routines by pledging the flag.

We Never Live; We Are Always in the Expectation of Living.

It's simply enough to be alive at DHS . . . to feel the wind and the ground, to see the clouds in the sky, to hear the voice of appreciation, and to be a hockey player.

What Makes Dover Go Around?

There's something special about being a student at Dover High. It's like living on a big sphere in the middle of space where you can see, hear, run, walk, sit, stand, stretch, and take advantage of all the experiences that surround you.

One May Be Humble Out of Pride.

With common goals and common longings we laughed, we loved, we played, we won. Those were our school days, our happy days. They were real because we made them real. They were alive because we existed.

Special Happenings Make Us Want to Live.

It's the life all around us at DHS that makes us more aware of ourselves and others. And it's in the living of each day and each experience that lets us grow and unlock new dimensions of our own being.

RIGHT PAGE, TOP: Dennis Fry wonders what Mrs. Schaeberle put into his unknown that is reacting so strangely. Could it be that Dover water?

Dover High Makes Our Dreams a Reality.

At Dover, there's no reason to feel blocked off from reality as if life were only a dream. Doors are opened, paths are created, and you find yourself united with the rest of the world.

Inside and Out, It's the extra Moments That Make the School Day.

During the year the extra moments that greeted DHS students during the school day, and even after school, became prized moments. They found the minutes between classes a time for friends, friendly glances, and an occasional soda.

Dover: a Continuous Cycle of Food Fun, Games, Dates . . .

The lunch hour gave students a chance for conversation and relaxation. After school the freedom widened and DHS students scattered from band practice to football games, from dates to meetings, and from running around to home again.

Happiness, Sadness, Faces Tell the Story.

Everywhere there are faces . . . some happy, some solemn with thought, some sad . . . but always they are there. Faces are sometimes mirrors which reflect what we see and sometimes windows that let others see in. Do we know the meaning of faces? Do we understand the stories they tell?

Faces, Like Mirrors, Reflect Ones Inner Self.

Sunglasses and smiles . . . signs and sounds . . . faces reflect them all. The faces record its chapters.

Faces Reveal the Unexpected Happenings at Dover.

Faces . . . pleasant, surprised, posed, and priceless. The faces of our friends . . . caught in a moment . . . captured for our memory.

RIGHT PAGE, UPPER RIGHT: Sharon Farias browses through some magazines in the library to pass the time away during study hall.

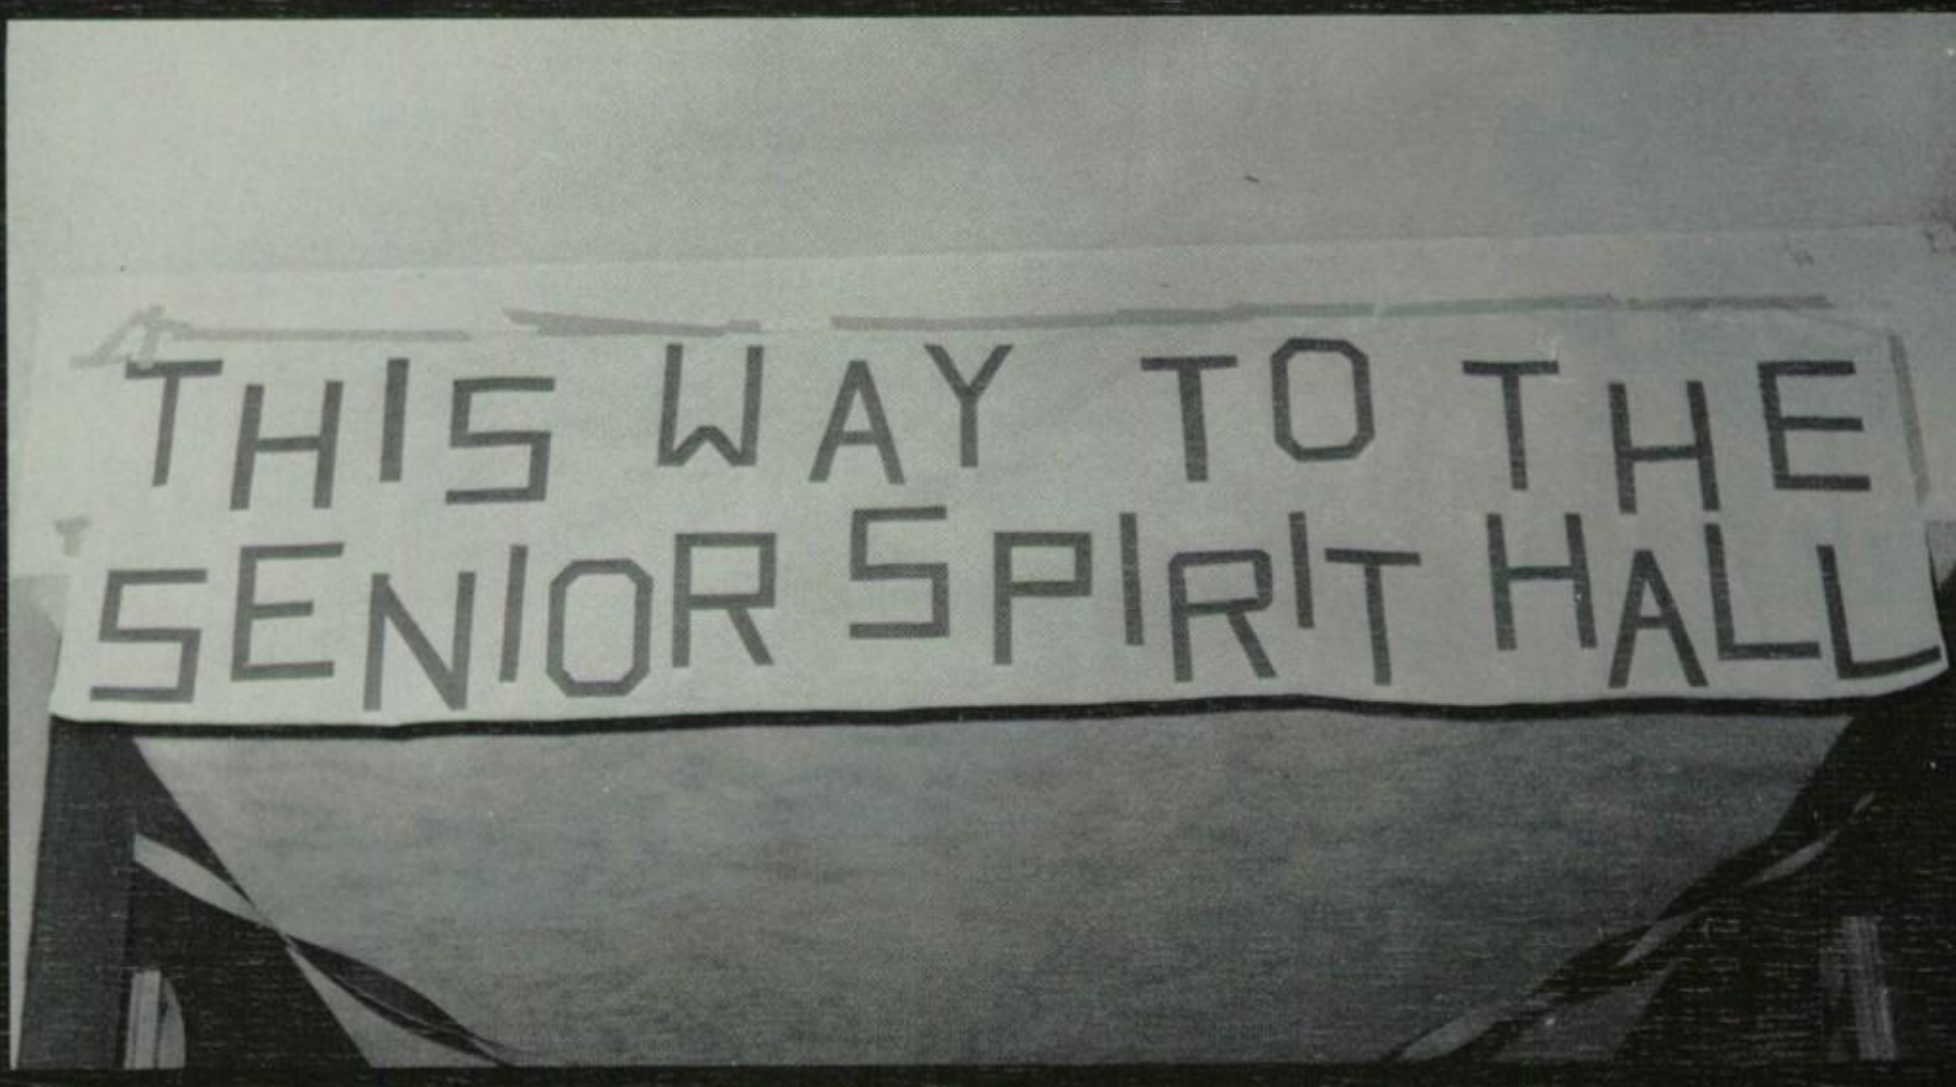
Life, It's the Real Thing.

Will I recall the good times of shared laughter that came from such simple things as having a coke, or enjoying the fresh Spring sun? Was I alone or was I a real part of them? What will I remember?



LEFT PAGE, UPPER LEFT: Kim Smith flashes a smile from behind the senior concession stand at a soccer game.

RIGHT CENTER: Finger movement on the sax.

Few In Number Great In Performance

We are proud to have a band who this year was small in number but great in performance. Our "Eagle Band" performed at football and soccer games, as well as participating in numerous fall parades around the area. The fall season culminated with an excellent rating at the Harrisburg parade. As the long, hard hours of practice continue, the band learns new music, routines, and perfects their precision which they hope to use when they go to The Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia, in the spring.

Activities

Dover has a wide range of extracurricular activities that allows the student to display their talents outside the classroom. These organizations' accomplishments are the results of many school hours devoted to hard work, practice and determination. The different activities have a variety of objectives. Many organizations such as band and concert choir bring recognition to the school through creativity and practice. Some clubs perform services for the school, whether it be delivering a projector to a room or beautifying the landscape. Others support the sports teams by raising money for equipment or plastering the walls with spirit-filled posters. Speaking of spirit, the student government was responsible for the most successful Homecoming Week Dover ever had. Student Council does a superb job of improving the school for the students' benefit. NEWSETTE and MEMOSCOPE are organizations which capture the happenings of the year for the students' enjoyment. Enjoyment comes in groups, and most of the students join activities just for that purpose. Dover's activities helped make this year an impressive one.

Sweitzer.

Activities

As students walked the halls during the first periods on Mondays and Thursdays, they could not help hearing the chorus rehearsing their numbers for the Christmas and Spring concerts. These two concerts are always enjoyed by both parents and students, and this year's Christmas concert had the extra special flavor of a cold, snowy day which helped put the audience in the Christmas spirit. Renaissance also contributed to the concerts, as well as performing for local organizations throughout the year.

FAR RIGHT BELOW: A Mann addresses the student body at an awards assembly.

The '73-'74 school year was labeled the "Year of the Eagle" by Doug Mann and the rest of the Student Council, and they made every effort to make it a year never to be forgotten. Going from "Eagle Pride Week" and Homecoming activities to the Cinderella Ball, the Council extracted interest, enthusiasm, and spirit from the student body that had lain dormant for a few years. Other projects included to bring about student involvement were the Talent Show assembly and the Environmental Action Award.

Activities

The Fish and Game Club provides service to our school by keeping the courtyard clean, planting flowers, and trimming the shrubs.

The Girls Athletic Association (G.A.A.) has a variety of projects which they do annually such as having a Christmas program and an Easter egg hunt for the first grade children at Dover Elementary School. Bake sales are held in order to raise money for the purchasing of equipment for girls' sports.

As the name Spirit Club suggests, it adds spirit to our school by the many posters which the girls make during club periods. These posters, along with the posters made by G.A.A., are hung throughout the school to boost Dover's teams on to VICTORY!

Activities

The A.V. Club, Art Club, and F.F.A. Club show the diversification of interest of the students at Dover. The talent needed to sit before an easel, care for livestock, or prepare equipment for assemblies and class use is not the same, but the results are the same — pride and satisfaction in one's work. The accomplishments of these groups range from the F.F.A.'s displays at the York Inter-State Fair to the Art Club's beautiful display of Christmas decorations that adorned the lobby.

The NEWSETTE Club is responsible for editing Dover's great newspaper. The assembling of the NEWSETTE involves the full cooperation of the entire staff — a staff which is willing to spend many hours in writing articles, proofreading, and typing. This year, the NEWSETTE has taken on a new perspective. The photos, along with the art work, give the NEWSETTE a "professional look!" Without the A.F.S. Club, the foreign exchange program would be nonexistent. The money which was needed to finance Renata and Amancio while they were at Dover was being earned through various projects such as bake sales, dances, and a stationery sale.

STANDING: Judy Shaffer, Kim Stayman, Kristi Wynn, Joy Crone, Advisor Mr. Zercher, Kim Fremont, Cindy Stare.

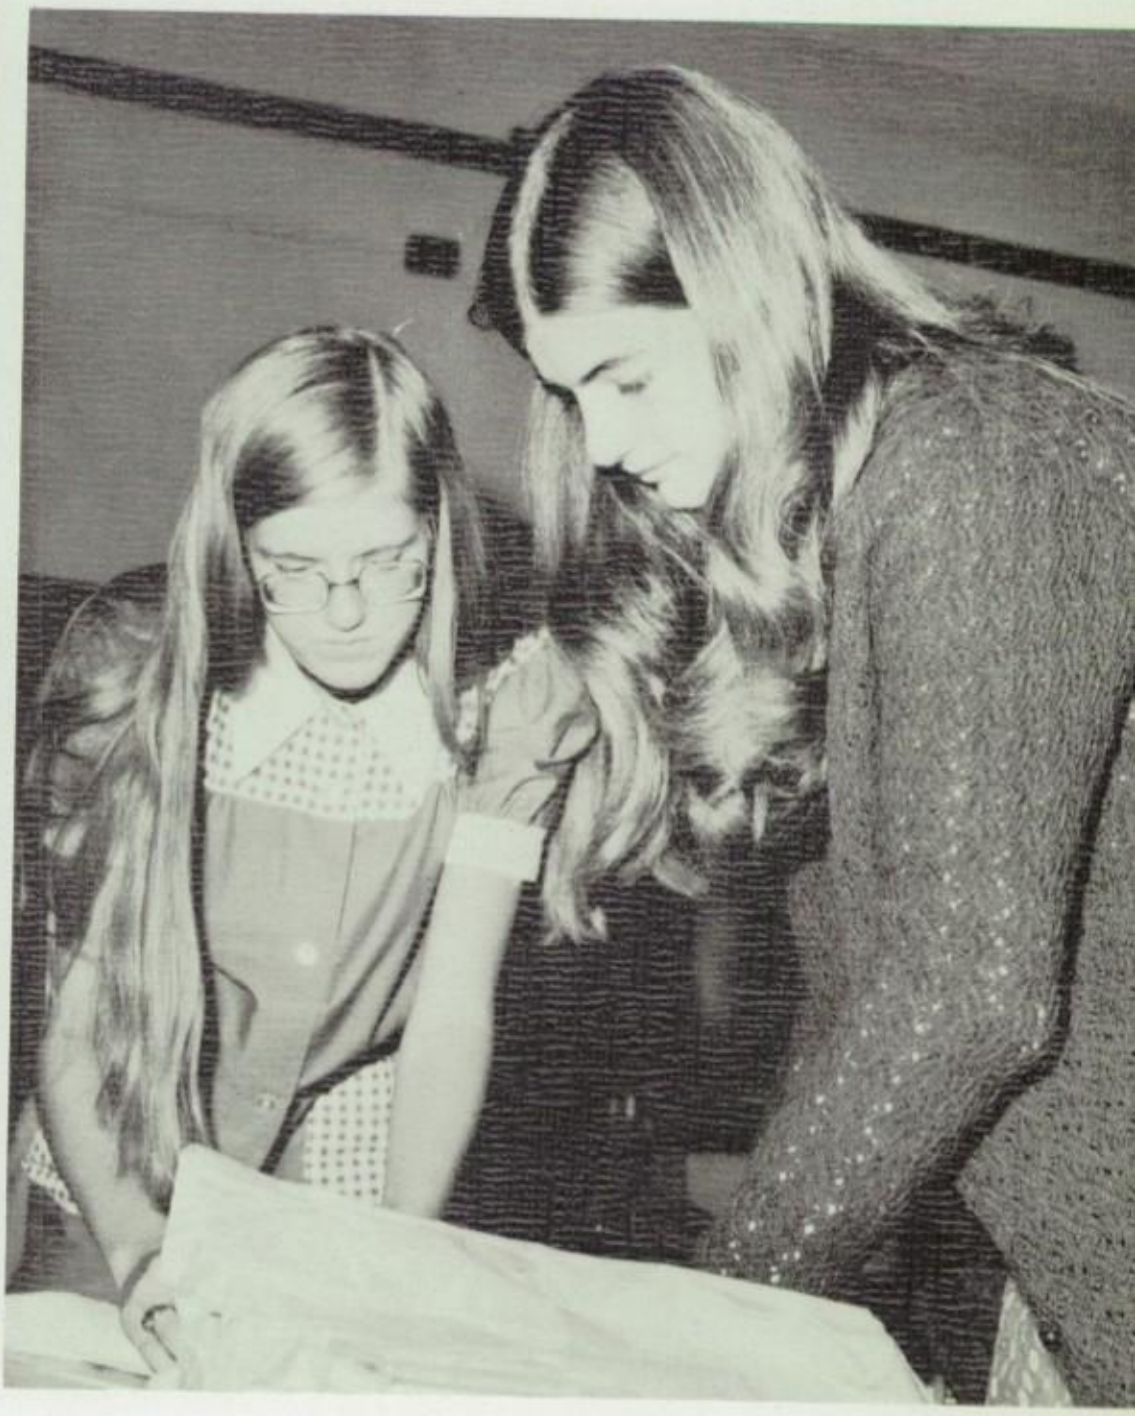
Hours Of Work; Moments Of Fun

The Yearbook Staff began its job long before school even started. Over the summer, soliciting was done for ads and patrons to earn the sum of money necessary to publish the MEMOSCOPE. With the start of school, the staff was divided into various groups, and each group was designated a certain section of the yearbook to complete. Here the chaos began! Choosing the color and style of cover was the first major problem. Then came the layout drawing, taking pictures, picture identification, typing, and still more picture taking. Some deadlines were met while others were not. Wow! This sure was not what we expected! Although there were many headaches, frustrations, and tedious hours of work until we got it all together, our moments of fun and pleasure while working for our advisor Mr. Zercher were immeasurable and will always be cherished.



Faculty

The faculty of Dover High is a group of individuals unified for the purpose of teaching. Each teacher has his own method of teaching, but all have a common goal. The goal? That the students learn something of value from their lessons. Many times our teachers seem like objects which are necessary in the classroom, and their names become synonymous with the subjects they teach. Suddenly, we realize that they are human beings with their own personalities, interests, and abilities. The faculty is a necessary part of many different school activities. Is there a club without an advisor? A team without a coach? A dance without chaperons? They give their time so the students may become more involved with school life. The teachers show a personal interest in students and are easy to get along with. At Dover, students discover teachers can be friends. Friends, guides, lecturers, tyrants . . . No matter what your opinion of teachers, the school requires them. Strict, friendly, funny, helpful, our faculty at Dover is one of the best.

Faces Seldom Seen; Actions Felt

Dr. Ricker

Faces seldom seen actions felt accurately describes Dover's School Board this year. Students at Dover are surrounded daily by the administration's attempts to update our school's facilities by adding several new programs. This year the School Board has made it possible for many more students to be able to participate in the work experience program. Students who possess a difficulty in reading and students who want to increase their reading ability are now able to do so with the addition of the reading department. Students who have difficulty learning are also provided for this year. Teachers' aides allow some teachers to have more free time than they had in the past. Dover's administration is also making provisions in the sports program for new sports such as tennis and cross country. Mr. Grim and Dr. Ricker are shown here during a discussion at the School Board meeting in October.

To Know How To Suggest Is

Our faculty uses many devices that aid them in teaching. For example, the Flash-X that Mrs. Coleman is demonstrating for Mrs. Taccard on In-Service Day. This handy device aids her in helping the students improve their reading ability. The overhead projector is a favorite of Mr. Fox. What would he do without this marvelous piece of machinery? In the faculty room, Mr. Eisenhart is taking a break from the overhead projector and keeping up with current events. If he can read upside down, that is.

"Their role is simple . . . they give so others may learn." If Linda Trone has a question in typing class, Mr. Plank always takes time to answer her. Miss Ilges devotes much time to her students (Charles Anderson, Terry Van Metre) on an individualized basis, thus making it easier for them to learn. The success of the work experience program is largely due to the time and energy that Mr. Kenneth Harrold and Mr. Richard Coons put into this program. Mr. Harrold is shown here explaining the program to the faculty on In-Service Day.

Learning Is

Miss McWilliams of the Business Department and Miss Trone of the Health and Physical Education Department agree that their years of college are invaluable to their subject matter but that subject matter is not enough to carry out the learning process. Teachers often find that workshops, seminars, and In-Service Days are helpful in acquiring and exchanging new ideas for curriculum development. Mrs. Reinhard and Mrs. Zale are shown taking a coffee break during an In-Service Day.

The name of the game is cooperation. Without it, the learning process could not continue. Cooperation among teachers is evident as Mrs. Warner instructs Miss Stephenson on the use of the word flasher. Team cooperation — a must for a successful season — is demanded by Coach Giano. There is also a demand for cooperation between teachers and community. Chief Erb discusses this type of cooperation with Mrs. Schaeberle during the Teachers' In-Service Day in October.

In the morning, while we are going through our daily routine of classes, the cooks are preparing what will give us energy to make it through the remainder of the day. They begin by cooking hundreds of lunches, then cautiously wait for the first stampede at 10:50. During this chaotic period called lunch, the cashiers quickly collect the money and patiently wait for somebody to plug in the cord to the cash register which was just tripped over. After feeding us, the cooks wash the multitudes of dishes we have used. Their work is finished when everything is ready for the following day.

Who washes the windows? Empties the trash? Sweeps the floors? The custodians of course! They deliver the tablets to the students' homerooms. At the end of the day they clean it off the floor in 107 after it has crash landed in the form of airplanes. Preparing the school for another day, they are still hard at work when we go our separate ways at 3:13.

We enter Dover High School with the goal of graduating and becoming a part of the community. At the start of our freshman year, school life at Dover is a new experience for us. Class advisors are assigned, officers are elected and class projects are planned. We end our freshman year knowing that the best is yet to come. As sophomores we begin to think more highly of ourselves; after all, we're not the youngest class anymore. This is a building year and as our money-making activities come and go, our treasury grows. At the end of the year, we begin to realize that Dover High has become a part of us. In our junior year we begin planning what we will do after we graduate. We become anxious for our senior year to start. When it does, the year passes very quickly. As graduation approaches we realize that, though we are ending an important part of our life, we've only just begun to live.

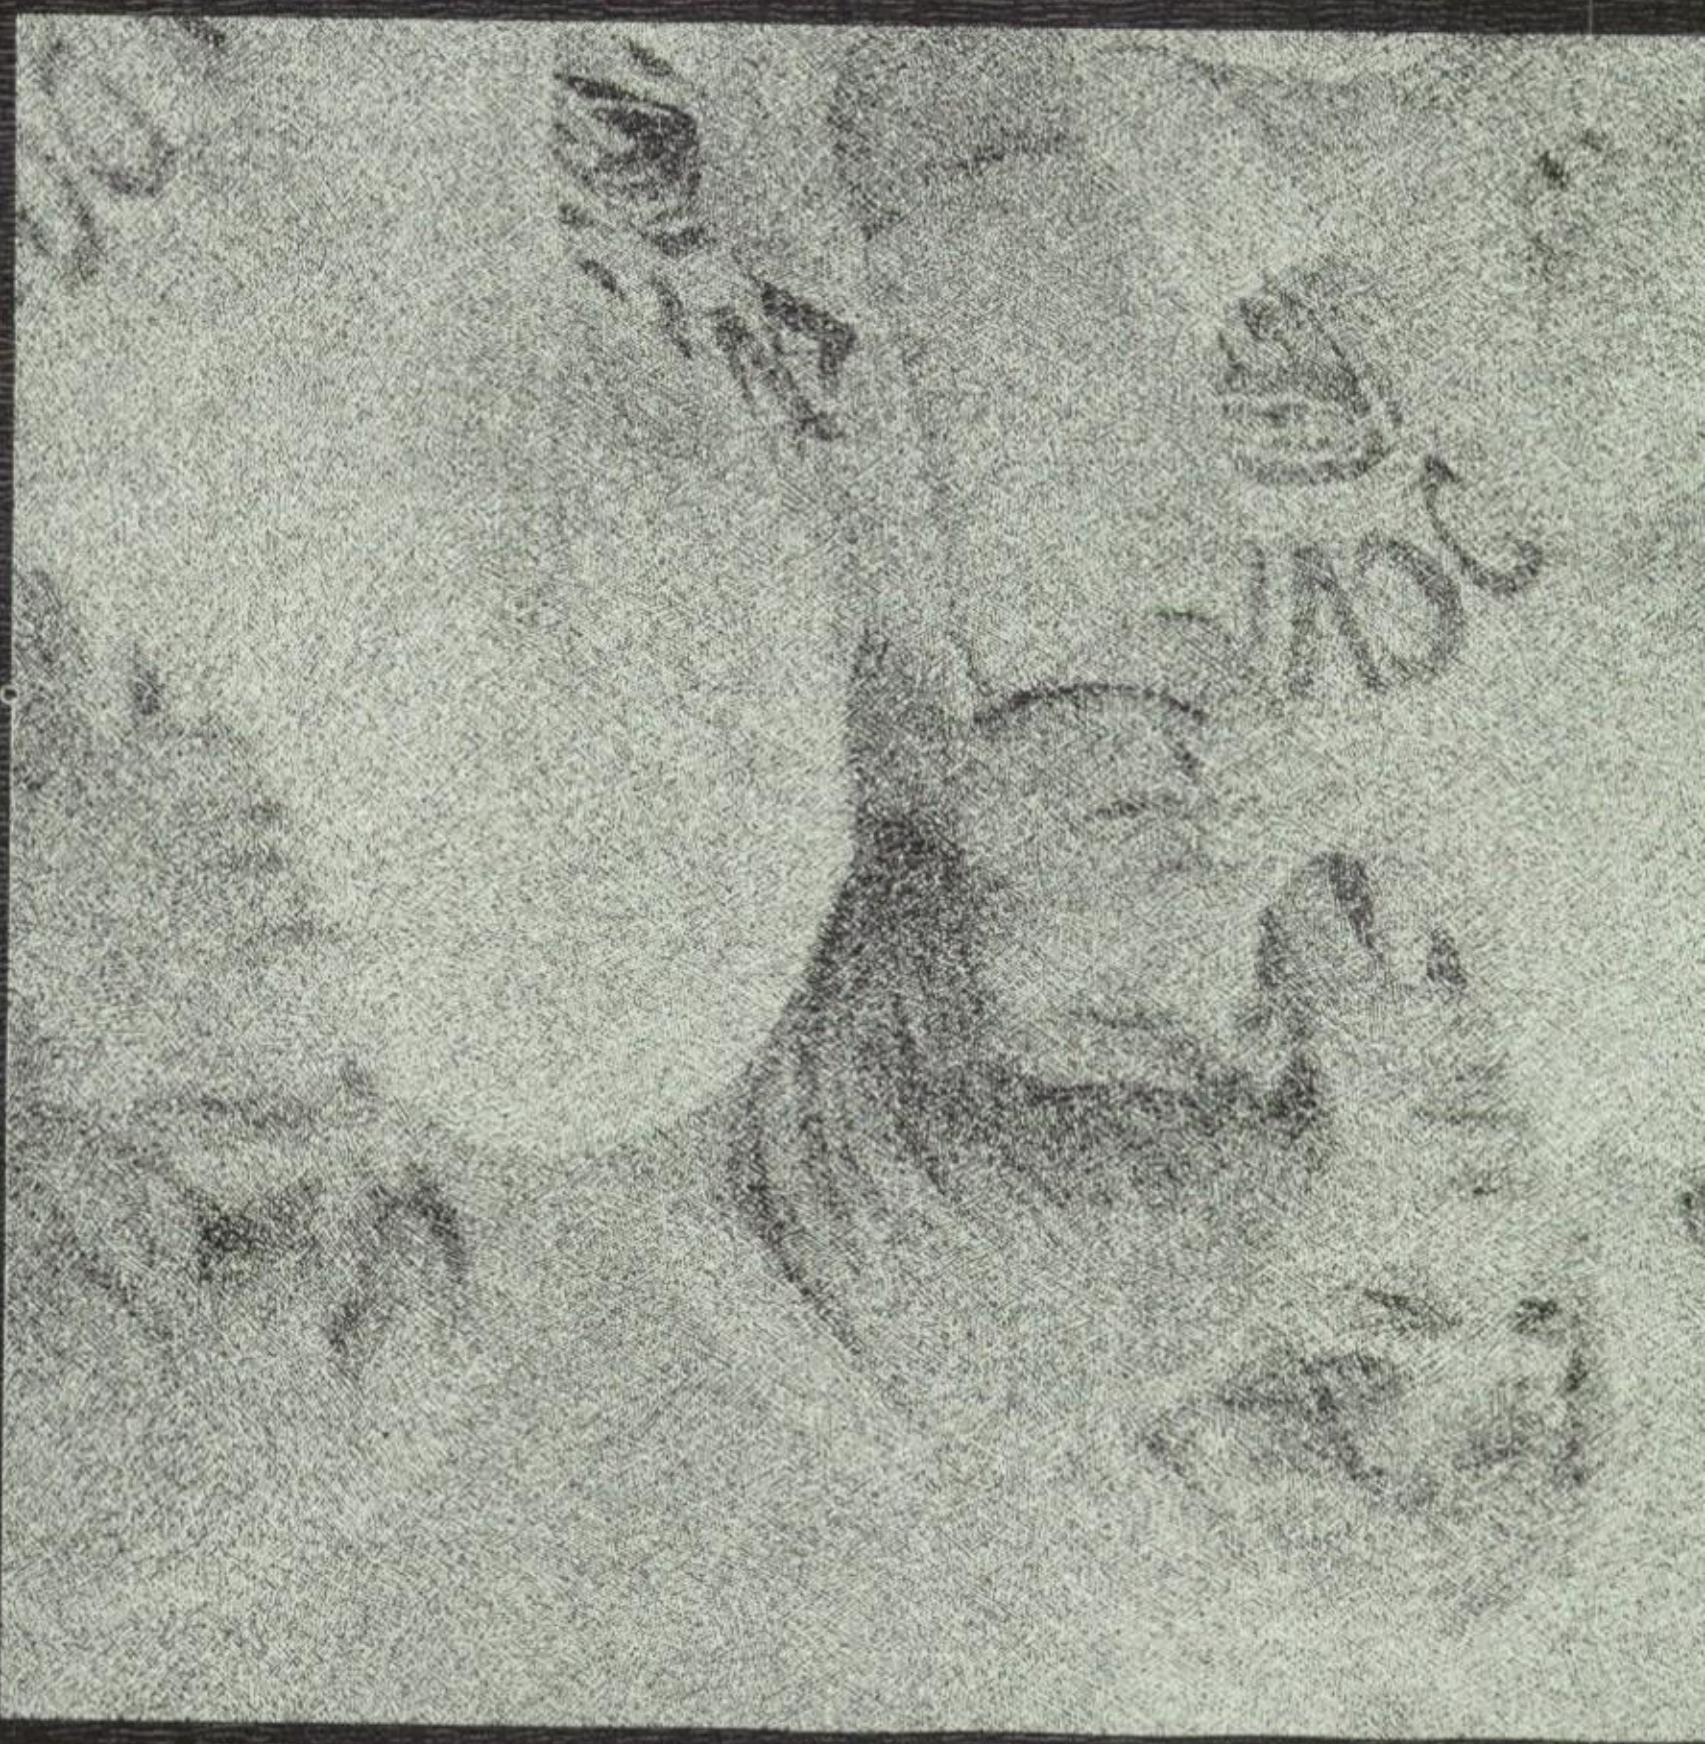
Spirit at Dover High School grew from the first goal in soccer until the last homerun scored in baseball. The year began with a great spirit-filled pep assembly during Homecoming Week, and we went on to win our Homecoming soccer game. Throughout the year, members of sports teams spent countless hours striving to be the best. These hours were devoted to individual practice and coordinating their talents as a team. This year, during games, the athletes and fans were thrilled and saddened in contests which were filled with the excitement of competition. This competition was met head-on by the athletes who did their best, but at times their best wasn't enough. The teams earned their victories and faced their defeats. But defeat only made them strive to meet the next challenge and overcome it. Excited fans, outstanding athletes, agile cheerleaders, quiet defeats, fantastic victories . . . All were a part of the "Year of the Eagle."



Sports

Never Up Never In

The golf team practiced many hard and tiring hours every night after school at Grandview. Although their season's record ended as 1-11, we are proud of them. Jim Baker, first man on the team, was out for the season; his collar bone was broken the night before the first match. The season was plagued with several close matches that could possibly have been won if Jim had played. The fun, inspired by Coach Little, made the season worthwhile.

1) Jeff Geltz has difficulty in following the flight of the ball. 2) Putting for par. 3) Frank Dittenhafer aims for an eagle. 4) Jim Baker explains to Frank Dittenhafer that due to a backyard football injury he will not be able to compete in the golf matches this season. TEAM: (Left to Right) ROW 1: Jeff Geltz, Alan Little, Don English. ROW 2: Jim Nichols, Frank Dittenhafer, Ron Bair, Steve Kinneman, Greg Sindlinger, Richard Jacobus, Raymond Schelbert. Experience Ran Second To Desire

Tennis and Cross Country brought new ideas and excitement to the fields of Dover. Both teams did their best in representing the Eagles; they were proud of their coaches, Mr. Humbert and Mr. Fox, for helping them develop the skills and knowledge necessary to make a team.

The tennis team consisted of eight hardworking players. Working daily, the team practiced serves, lobs, and smashes. The team had close matches with York Subu rban and Spring Grove, ending the season with an 0-6 record. Jon Culbertson was the winner of the team tournament.

Since the cross country team was just born this year, their active participation was on as exhibition basis. Of the six meets their lone victory was obtained by beating Northeastern 24-34, ending the season 1-5. Eight varsity runners participated in each meet, showing promise for the future. Some fine individual performances came from their efforts.

And then as suddenly as they had dawned, they faded into the less carefree days of adulthood. And finally they are now gone . . . those happy days in school. The year began with a great Homecoming Week in which the students allowed their school spirit to explode. We, as seniors, were pleased to be given the Eagle Pride Award. This was the "Year of the Eagle" and we were very proud to be part of it. At Dover, we formed lasting friendships and discovered our individual abilities. These abilities, along with the knowledge we acquired in the classroom, will aid us in the future. Memories are also a part of our future. Memories such as studying for a Biology test, decorating our "Senior Spirit Hall," and entertaining two foreign exchange students. Yes, it was fun while it lasted, but now it must end. The memories of DHS will always be with us as we go our separate ways. Around the corner lie the unknown days of tomorrow. Who knows the future that they will bring?

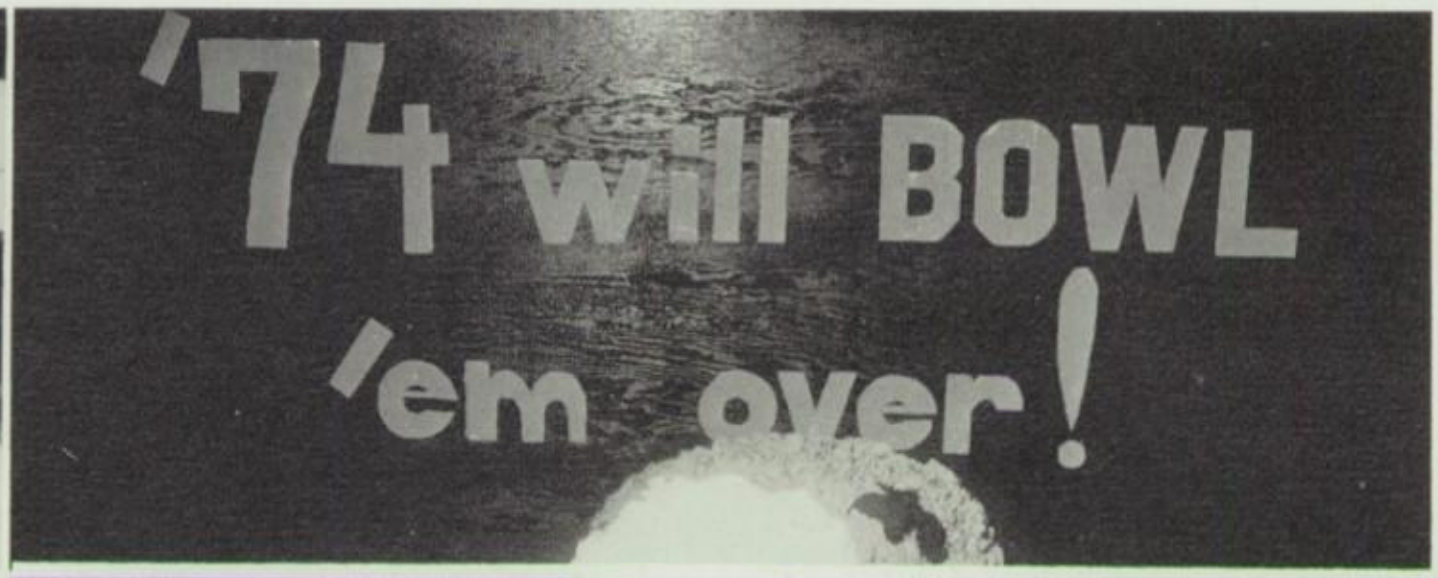
We Finally Made It From There to Here —



'74 will BOWL
'em over!

We Will Always Remember

For the first time, Dover welcomed two A.F.S. exchange students. Renata Sperandio came from Belluno, Italy, to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sowers and their daughter, Paula; Amancio Isla, from Madrid, Spain, visited Mr. and Mrs. Merle Mann and Doug, Dena, Sabrina, Teresa, and Chris. Renata was a member of the girls' basketball team and loved American movies (especially M*A*S*H). Amancio was a member of the Eagle soccer team and Calvary Lutheran's Creative Worship Troupe. Best wishes for the future, Renata and Amancio.

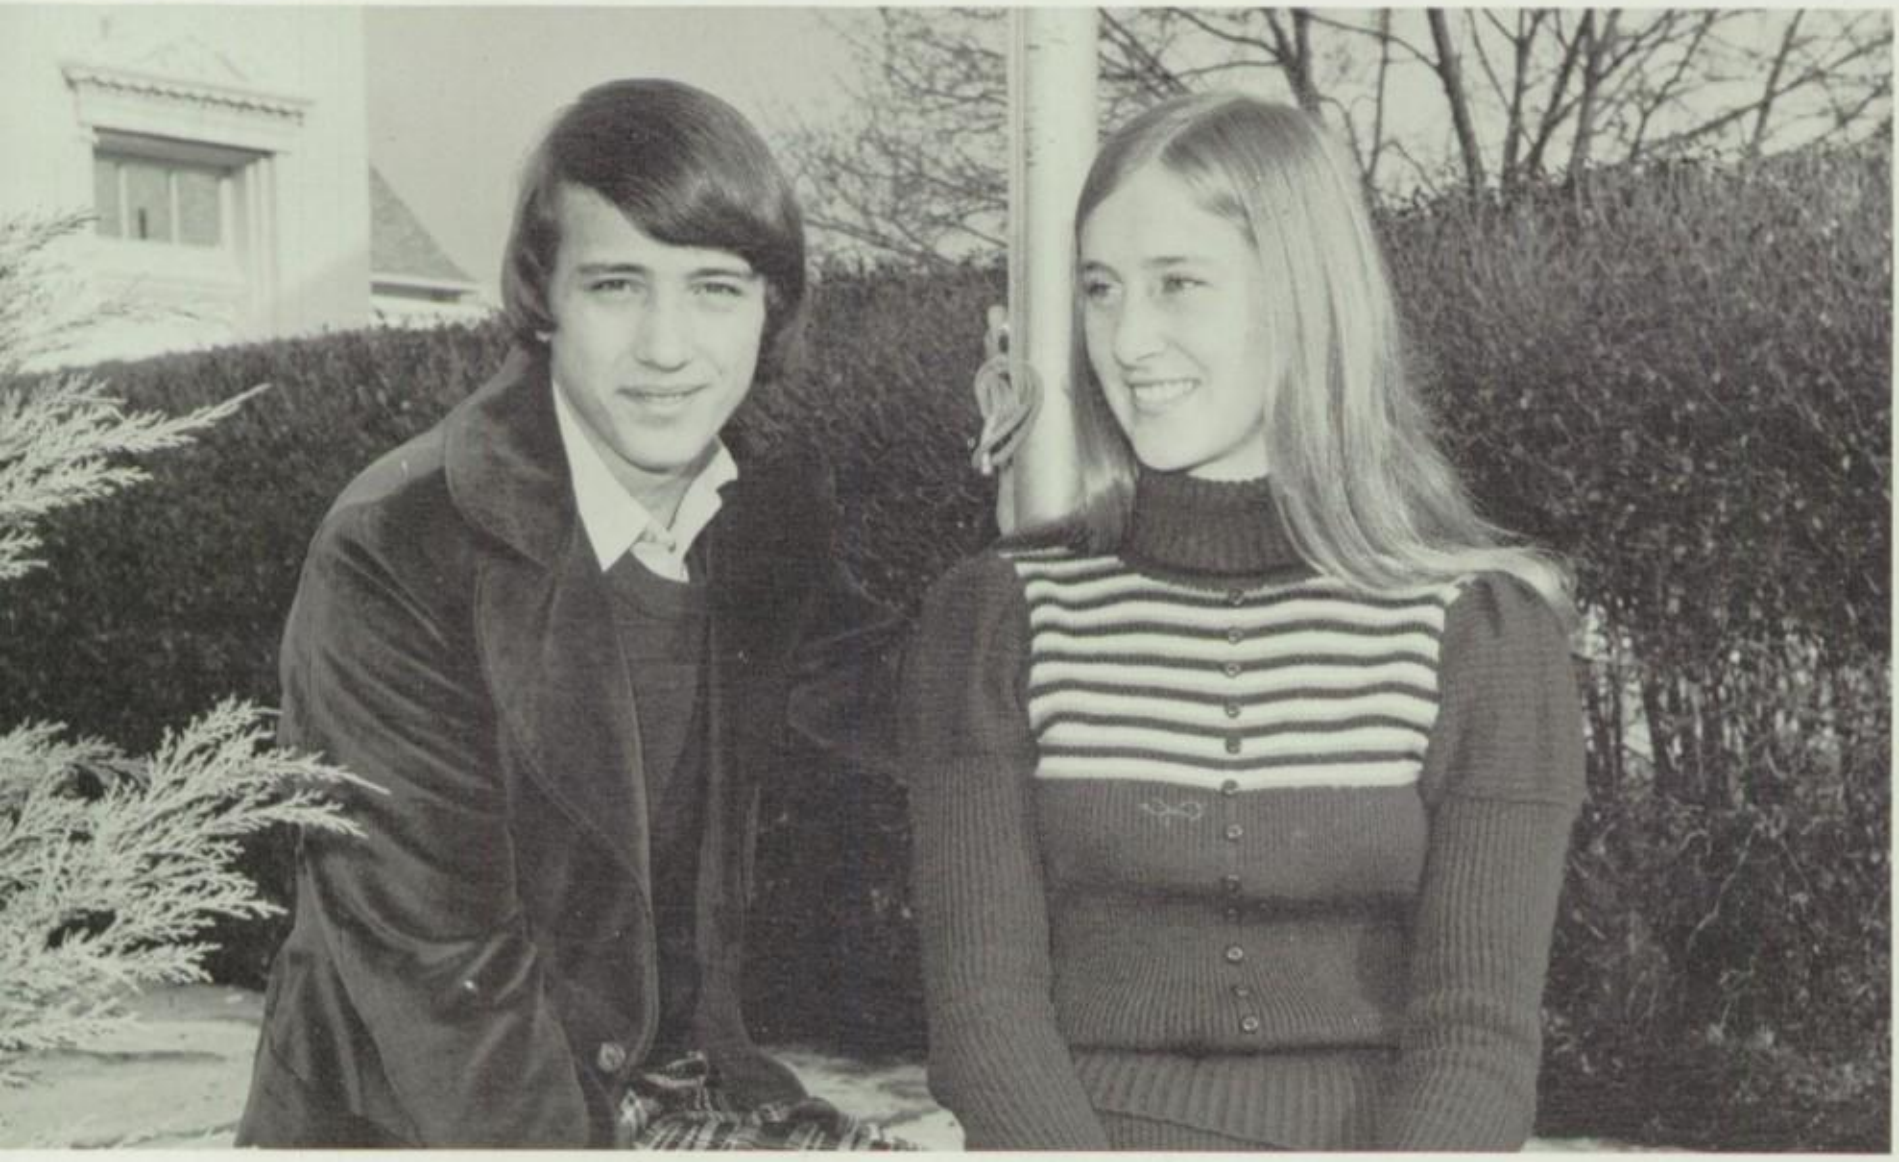
Good Personality Is One Key to Success.

Our class advisors, Mrs. Bertha Schaeberle and Mr. Kenneth Kniley, are found thinking about the trip to Nassau. Most Likely to Succeed, Cheryl Sowers and John Rinehart (Left), and Best All Around, Kathy Craun and Terry Myers (Below), take time out from their heavy schedules to be captured by the camera lens.



Self-Expression Takes on Many Forms.

Most Talented in Art (Right), Joy Hinkel and Fred Miller, are found at Heckert's Ceramics Studio looking at the greenware, while Best Sense of Humor (Below), Sue Brown and Ron Zirkle, are out doing what comes naturally: having a good time.

Smiling Faces We'll Never Forget.

Most Talkative (Left), Sue Deardorff and Eric Strausbaugh, can usually be found near a phone, while Most School Spirited (Below), Pam Thompson and Doug Mann, are on their way to a game.

Rhythm, Abilities, and Leadership.

Community

DHS is a part of the community, and many people of the community are involved in school life. These people, mainly the parents, relatives and friends of the students, support a number of school activities. For example, the members of the community make fund-raising projects successful. They buy what the students are selling. Being present at concerts and class plays proves they are interested in the students' abilities. The people of the community are not always there just to observe; they also enjoy getting involved. During athletic events they show their spirit and enjoyment as much as the students do. So, whether it be buying some candy, listening to music, or cheering for Dover, they do support school activities. One project which relies on the help of the community is the yearbook. We, the staff, are very proud of our book. Without the cooperation of the community, our goal would not have been reached. We would like to sincerely thank all friends and businessmen who contributed to MEMOSCOPE 1974. The above photograph is Baughman's Memorial works on South Main Street in Dover.

Now this is not the end. It is not even the beginning of the end. But it is, perhaps, the end of the beginning.
